

Key Correspondents Training

Irish Global Health Network Conference 2022

25 October 2022 4-6pm

Welcome to this workshop! I hope you find it interesting and fun, and an opportunity to discover some new ideas and ways of writing and communicating important messages from the annual global health conference.

Ahead of the workshop, it would be great if you could look at the websites below to explore styles and approaches that are helpful for reporting from this kind of event. These are strong examples of how to write as a reporter, rather than in the style of an academic essay, journal article, or NGO report (though all of these can be improved using the skills we'll discuss in the workshop):

1. Previous articles from Key Correspondents
2. Citizen Journalism 101: Tips for producing a good story

Workshop agenda

- 16.00-16.10 Welcome and introduction to the workshop
- 16.10-16.40 Learning 1: Writing 101 [writing styles as a citizen journalist]
- 16.40-17.10 Learning 2: Reporting 101 [structure and content for a citizen journalist]
- 17.10-17.20 Break
- 17.20-17.45 Learning 3: Conference Reportage 101
- 17.45-18.00 Q&A [discussion, conference planning, editorial support] and close

Please do get in touch if you have queries about the event [see email below].

Ian Hodgson
E: hodgsonian@gmail.com